

Cadash is an exciting new adventure game from Taito-America. In a market where everything seems to be the same, Cadash offers the player a new adventure in fun!

CADASH

As an added feature of Cadash a special Communication Kit is available to make a Four Player Version. Please see reverse side for more details.

TAITO

This two player horizontal kit starts the player in the throne room where the King asks for the rescue of the Princess Sarasa who has been captured by the incarnation of Evil, Barrog.

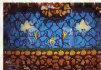

The players can select ment characters at the beginning of the game—each character offers a different set of powers.

Fighter—Best attacking power and persistence
Magician—Has strong magical powers
Priest—Has heavy protective magic
Ninja—Moves the quickest and has knife throwing abilities.

To help the players through their journeys, they can stop along the way and speak to other travelers and townspeople to receive hints on how to travel through each level of adventure.

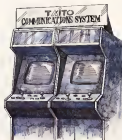

Each adventure gets increasingly difficult as the player encounters different adversaries and then the final "boss" creature of each scene. Different enemies reward the player with bags of gold. The player can pick up this gold and use it later in the game to rest at the inn, to gain extra strength or to stop at the tool shop and purchase additional weapons, extra time or healing potions to guard against future attacks.

Cadash presents the players with a journey that is interesting, difficult and challenging with many obstacles and enemies to defeat along the way. Those who persist with bravery, daring and persistence will reap the rewards.

COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM

By using Taito's Communication Cable Kit, two cabinets can be put together and four players can play the same game. Although each set of players may go through different areas of adventure, if all four players choose the same scene they can fight the enemies together.

As in the diagram above, the cabinets are connected with a cable which plugs into each board in each game. A special sign will be included in the kit to let your players know that these two games communicate.

Since there is no set pattern of which scenes to go through, the players may encounter different adventures each time they play the game.
